The International Union Against Sexually Transmitted Infections (IUSTI) and ASHM are pleased to invite you to the 25th IUSTI World Congress, which will this year incorporate the Australasian Sexual and Reproductive Health Conference. Taking place 17-20 September 2024 at the International Convention Centre in Sydney, this conference will provide an opportunity to meet, discuss and learn about the latest research and innovation in sexual and reproductive health. The program will incorporate a range of world leading speakers and presentations, providing an opportunity to expand your professional knowledge through local and international insight. Did you know that the 2024 Australasian HIV&AIDS Conference is happening back-to-back with the 25th IUSTI World Congress? Joint registration rates are available.
