This Heart Week, the Heart Foundation is once again partnering with the World Heart Federation to bring to you a health professional webinar focusing on the latest evidence on the management of high cholesterol in the context of cardiovascular risk reduction. The event will be chaired by Prof Garry Jennings, Chief Medical Advisor of the Heart Foundation, and we will be joined by Professor Kausik Ray, world-leading preventative cardiologist, as well as Australian experts as they discuss the latest evidence and how it can be translated into practical preventative care.
