

Dementia Matters: A practical approach to assessment and care for people living with dementia for the general practice nurse

WHEN Sunday, July 7th 2024
8:30 AM - 1:00 PM

WHERE University Dr
Callaghan NSW 2308
Australia
View Map

COST Prices start at $88

Scan for more information and registration details

This session aims to increase your knowledge, skills and confidence in brain health promotion, recognising cognitive impairment or potential dementia, assessing the impact on the individual and carer(s) and adapting the approach to routine care in the context of the individual's cognitive impairment.

This session aims to increase your knowledge, skills and confidence in brain health promotion, recognising cognitive impairment or potential dementia, assessing the impact on the individual and carer(s) and adapting the approach to routine care in the context of the individual's cognitive impairment.

- Describe why knowing about dementia matters
- Understand the key features of dementia
- Describe the role of the general practice nurse in brain health promotion

Use a person-centered approach to provide care to support the individual with dementia and carer(s) health and social well-being needs