As electronic prescriptions continue to be a valuable component of healthcare delivery across Australia, the Active Script List (ASL) is now a widely available token management solution with over 80,000 patients registered. It can simplify the experience of using electronic prescriptions especially for patients taking multiple medicines, be a useful alternative for script on file customers and help resolve issues around missing tokens. In this webinar, the Agency will be joined by guest speaker, Karalyn J Huxhagen, BPharm FPS AACPA, who will provide insights on integrating ASL into the pharmacy workflow.
