

Interpreting Research for Busy Health Professionals

WHEN Saturday, March 2nd 2024
8:30 AM – 3:30 PM

WHERE Online

COST Early bird fee $280 (after early bird ends $330)

With the huge volume of papers published on any topic, and patients consulting "Doctor Google" and social media, many health professionals would like to feel more confident that they can access the best information for their clinical needs.

This is a one-day online workshop. It will provide guidance on what constitutes 'quality' in cohort studies, case-control studies, randomised controlled trials and systematic reviews.

Scan for more information and registration details