This stand-alone scientific symposium on the topic of Long COVID is designed for GPs and sponsored by MSD Medical Affairs.

This virtual event is for all Australian GPs and will cover the Scientific Basis for Long COVID, Clinical Presentations/Phenotypes and Management Approach - Practice Points.

The presenter, Dr Alistair Miller, is a Respiratory Physician working at the Royal Melbourne Hospital and Peter MacCallum Cancer Centre in Melbourne. He has broad experience with COVID providing care for people with COVID-19 in the acute hospital setting, as the previous Clinical Lead of the North West Metro COVID + Care Pathway, and in the RMH Respiratory post-COVID clinic which has run since 2020.

He has contributed to the health pathways modules on acute and long COVID and sits on the Primary and Chronic Care Panel of the National Clinical Evidence Taskforce.
