Over the past 25 years, the National Suicide Prevention Conference has evolved into one of the most anticipated and recognised events in the suicide prevention calendar. With almost 700 delegates in attendance at last year's Conference in Canberra.

The National Conference presents a unique opportunity to bring the sector together and share the latest thinking to promote best practice and innovation in suicide prevention.

This event provides a gateway to unite suicide prevention experts, showcase the latest research, share evidence-based solutions, and focus on saving lives.
