Join the OTAC Clinical Case Webinar series, with the upcoming session examining common clinical challenges around the provision of opioid agonist treatment (OAT).

Leading the discussion will be Prof Paul Haber, Head of Specialty of Addiction Medicine, University of Sydney & Clinical Director of Sydney Local Health District Drug Health Services. Participants are encouraged to either submit their own cases or to discuss presented cases on the evening.

These webinars aim to provide a continuing learning environment to discuss clinical matters related to prescribing methadone or buprenorphine pharmacotherapies for opioid dependence. The webinars will be recorded and be made available on the OTAC website (www.otac.org.au) alongside relevant resources related to the topic. Whilst primarily aimed towards prescribers of OAT, we welcome other health professionals, including those in nursing and pharmacy, to join us in the conversation.

If you have a case you would like to submit to this session, you can submit your clinical case by visiting: <https://redcap.sydney.edu.au/s...>
