Effective partnerships provide positive experiences for consumers and carers. They help deliver high-quality health care and improved safety. The Digital Mental Health Standards focus on ensuring that service users are partners in the planning, delivery and evaluation of services, as well as partners in their own care.

Register now to hear our panel of consumers, carers and service providers explore how services can develop and maintain user participation, what co-design means in practice, and how partnerships strengthen services. You will learn how to develop and support meaningful partnerships in every aspect of your service.
