

Supporting Community after Disaster - Central Coast

Extreme weather events are on the rise and as we move into a new fireseason, the trauma of the Black Summer bushfires is still fresh for many. Floods, drought and the pandemic have brought extra challenges to community.

Join us for a 1-day comprehensive training workshop on understanding and working effectively with communities impacted by disasters. You will gain valuable insights into how to best support disaster impacted communities to both recover and to build individual and community resilience.
