We are seeking workshop participants from the primary care sector (GPs and practice nurses)

The purpose of this workshop is to engage with stakeholders to understand how our research findings can be translated into policy and practice within Australia.

Benefits from participation in the workshop include:

*An increased knowledge of how these enhanced models of care are being used and their potential benefits to patients

*An enhanced understanding of the medications and health services accessed by patients post-stroke

*An opportunity to provide input into future policy directions in this area
